

Evan Linskey

Research Manager

State of Michigan Center for Data and Analytics

Evan Linskey is the Research Manager within the Michigan Center for Data and Analytics at the State of Michigan. Evan and his team lead state efforts to turn data into actionable information for state, local, and outside partners. He has been with the center for over seven years where he previously served as both an economic analyst and a regional analyst. Prior to joining the state, Evan worked positions in both local and federal government.
